Wolf Tales:
Documenting Voices of Diversity
At NC State University

Virginia Ferris
Outreach and Engagement Program Librarian
Special Collections Research Center
Special Collections Outreach

- Increase awareness and visibility of collections
- Encourage use of collections
- Fill gaps in collections and prevent future silences

Collecting areas:

- Agricultural Innovations
- Animal Rights and Welfare
- Architecture and Design
- Computer Simulation
- Engineering
- Entomology
- Forestry and Environmental Sciences
- History of Computing
- Landscape Architecture
- NC State University History
- Plant and Crop Sciences
- Textiles
- Veterinary Medicine
- Zoological Health
Partners

- GLBT Center
- Women’s Center
- African American Cultural Center
- Student Veterans Association
- Multicultural Student Affairs
- Native American Student Affairs
- Association of Women Faculty
Common themes

- Value of safe spaces and community support networks
- Value of engagement in decision-making on campus
- Impact of national political climate on campus
- Representation and challenging stereotypes
What next?

Collection as of March 2018:

- 143 recordings collected
- 90 published online (and counting)

Encouraging community use

- Incoming student orientations
- Exhibits, blogs, podcasts, documentaries

Integrating into curriculum and supporting research

- Course-based instruction
- Digital media workshops

go.ncsu.edu/wolftales
Questions?

Visit: go.ncsu.edu/wolftales

Contact: library_wolftales@ncsu.edu